

DETECTING MOVEMENT CHARACTERISTICS OF AN OBJECT

ABSTRACT

System and method that measures and displays information about the conditions of a moving object, in particular a sports object such as a golf ball. In particular, the device measures the speed and direction of movement, as well as spin rate and spin axis orientation of the object by analyzing the data generated by one or more continuous wave radar sensors.